

---

FOUNTAIN OF SUBURBAN DELIGHTS

Fountain of Suburban Delights is a humorous, effervescent solar powered water sculpture folly of Australian suburban icons. Objects from the backyard –hills hoists, garden hoses, sprinklers, leaking water tanks perform out of turn in an entertaining and colliding water fantasy.

Like the Stravinsky Fountain in Paris this work is conceived as a large-scale water sculpture, boldly animating its proposed site in the main railway station entrance square.

Artists
Jennifer Turpin

Date
1995

Description
Water artwork, concept only

Materials
Water, multi-media

Location
Sydney

Client
Homebush Bay Design Workshop Studio for the Homebush Bay Corporation

Architect
Darlene Van der Breggen and landscape
architect John Blakeney